Slavery and Human Trafficking

As the UK's #1 Cloud Services Provider, we are committed to helping organisations become cloud enabled. We offer over 300 customers the capability they need to achieve successful transformation, through managed networks and platforms.

Founded in 1996, we have grown to a staff of 250 strong and have offices in Manchester and London.

ANS is committed to supporting an ethical approach to procurement and environmental sustainability in the supply chain. ANS supports all legal requirements and obligations around its conduct regarding the protection of human and labour rights.

In order to support that commitment ANS will continue to commit to the continual improvement of all our supplier procedures and to a full ongoing review of our supplier base across this financial year 2018

This review includes:

- Documented procedural and policy assessment
- Risk Assessment
- Supplier Assessment
- Supplier Diligence Questionnaires
- Internal training program (as required)
- Expanded CSR review

ANS have currently deployed the following policies (available on request)

- Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy
- Equal Opportunities Policy

ANS key partners are fully committed to supporting an ethical and responsible approach in their supplier programs.
